

Prompt Packs: 14-Day Content Plan

Goal: 3 sales across the three $12 prompt packs in 14 days. Every post gives away one genuinely useful prompt, then mentions the pack.

Rules that keep posts welcome

- Read each group's rules first. Many only allow promotion on certain days or in a pinned thread. Follow them; a ban costs more than one post.
- Give first. Every post includes something useful on its own. The link is one line at the end.
- Say it's yours. "I made this" is honest and works better than pretending to be a customer.
- No fake claims: no invented sales numbers, reviews, "best seller" or fake deadlines.
- Answer every comment within a day. Questions in comments often turn into sales.
- One post per group per week at most. Spread posts across groups.

Ready-to-post texts

S1 Facebook groups for contractors, cleaners, lawn care, HVAC; LinkedIn

Owners who hate writing review replies: this does it in a minute.

"Write a reply to this 5-star review: "[REVIEW TEXT]". Thank them by first name, mention the specific job they described, and keep it under 60 words. Do not offer discounts. Give 3 versions that do not sound templated."

I put 30 prompts like this (quote follow-ups, missed-call texts, service pages, review requests) into a $12 pack: [\[GUMROAD LINK\]](#)

S2 Facebook groups, Nextdoor for business, LinkedIn

Every missed call is a job going to someone else. Set up an automatic text-back. Here's a prompt to write it:

"Write a text we send automatically when we miss a call: introduce [BUSINESS NAME], say we will call back within [TIME], and ask what they need help with. Under 250 characters. Give 3 versions."

I put 30 prompts like this (quote follow-ups, missed-call texts, service pages, review requests) into a $12 pack: [\[GUMROAD LINK\]](#)

S3 Facebook groups, LinkedIn, X/Threads

Most quotes die because nobody follows up. This prompt writes a polite 3-step follow-up (no pushy tactics):

"Write 3 short follow-ups for a quote with no reply: day 2 (text), day 5 (email), day 10 (text, polite last check). No pressure tactics, no fake deadlines. Each under 60 words."

S4 LinkedIn, X/Threads, small-business Facebook groups

Posting on your Google Business Profile every week helps people find you. Here's the prompt I'd use:

"Write a Google Business Profile update for [BUSINESS NAME] about [RECENT JOB OR TOPIC] in [CITY]. 80-120 words, one clear call to action ([CALL / BOOK ONLINE]), no hashtags, no prices unless I give them. Give me 3 versions with different openings."

R1 Agent Facebook groups, LinkedIn

Agents using ChatGPT for listings: give it the fair housing rules first, or it will write things like "perfect for young families." Paste this at the start of every chat:

You are helping me, a real estate agent, write marketing and client communication. Use only the facts I give you and never invent property features, numbers or school ratings.

Follow fair housing rules: describe the property and its features, never the kind of people who should live there (no references to race, religion, sex, disability, familial status, national origin or other protected classes, and no phrases like "perfect for families" or "walking distance to churches").

My name and brokerage: [NAME, BROKERAGE]

That's part of a $12 pack I made: 30 prompts for listings, social posts, buyer and seller emails and video scripts, with fair housing guardrails: [GUMROAD LINK]

R2 Agent Facebook groups, LinkedIn, X/Threads

An MLS description from facts only, with no made-up features and no "stunning" on every line:

"Write an MLS description for [ADDRESS OR 'this home'] using only these facts: [BEDS, BATHS, SQFT, LOT, YEAR, UPDATES, FEATURES, HOA]. Lead with the strongest real feature, keep to [CHARACTER LIMIT] characters, no exaggerations, fair-housing compliant. Give 2 versions."

That's part of a $12 pack I made: 30 prompts for listings, social posts, buyer and seller emails and video scripts, with fair housing guardrails: [GUMROAD LINK]

R3 Agent Facebook groups, LinkedIn

Price-reduction conversations are hard. This prompt turns your data into calm talking points:

"Write talking points for recommending a price change to sellers after [DAYS] days with [SHOWINGS/FEEDBACK]. Empathetic, data-based ([DATA]), with 2 alternatives to a reduction."

That's part of a $12 pack I made: 30 prompts for listings, social posts, buyer and seller emails and video scripts, with fair housing guardrails: [GUMROAD LINK]

R4 Instagram/Facebook, agent groups

Open house this weekend? One prompt gives you the social post and the text to your sphere:

"Write an open house announcement for [ADDRESS] on [DATE, TIME]: 3 real highlights, parking or entry notes [NOTES], and RSVP option [LINK OR 'none']'. Two versions: social caption and a short text for my sphere."

E1 Etsy seller Facebook groups, r/EtsySellers (check rules)

All 13 Etsy tags in one prompt:

"Give me 13 Etsy tags (each max 20 characters, multi-word phrases where possible) for [PRODUCT]. Mix: what it is, who it is for, occasion, style, and use. No repeated words across more than 3 tags. Output as a comma-separated list."

I have 30 more for titles, descriptions, photo shot lists and buyer messages in a $12 pack: [GUMROAD LINK]

E2 Etsy seller groups, Threads/X

Etsy titles: the first 40 characters matter most. This prompt writes 5 that read naturally:

"Write 5 Etsy titles (max 140 characters) for this product: [PRODUCT, KEY FEATURES, WHO IT IS FOR]. Put the clearest description of what it is in the first 40 characters, read naturally (no keyword lists), and use only true features."

I have 30 more for titles, descriptions, photo shot lists and buyer messages in a $12 pack: [GUMROAD LINK]

E3 Etsy seller groups (digital sellers)

Digital sellers get "I can't find my download" every week. Save this prompt for the reply:

"A buyer cannot find their digital download. Write a friendly reply with the exact steps to find files in their Etsy account (Purchases and reviews > Download files) and an offer to help further. Under 120 words."

I have 30 more for titles, descriptions, photo shot lists and buyer messages in a $12 pack: [GUMROAD LINK]

E4 Etsy seller groups, Instagram

Not sure what photos your listing needs? This builds a 10-shot list you can do with a phone:

"Make a 10-image shot list for my [PRODUCT] listing: main image, scale shot, detail, in-use, what's included, size chart, back/inside, packaging, lifestyle, and a text-overlay info image. One line on how to shoot each with a phone."

Day 14 decision rules

3+ sales across the packs	Target hit. Mark the experiment validated. Raise the best seller to $19 and make a 4th pack for the audience that bought.
1-2 sales	Watch. Extend 7 days and put every post into the audience that clicked most (Gumroad > Analytics shows views per product).
0 sales, under 100 product views	A traffic problem, not a product problem. Try new groups or video before killing anything.
0 sales, 100+ views	People see it but don't buy. Test a new cover or headline, or one free sample prompt, for 7 more days, then decide validated or killed.

Decide from recorded numbers only. Then mark the experiment validated or killed in Money OS → Experiments, with a one-line result note.
